

SIMATIC PC-based

Flexible, versatile solutions for PC-based automation

With PC-based automation, you can implement applications and solutions that far exceed the functions of a classic controller. SIMATIC PC-based products offer you a flexible, innovative platform with long-term availability that gives you a home field advantage when meeting the challenges of the digital factory for your machines and plants.

- High flexibility with various mounting possibilities
- Front, wall or rack mounting as needed for a compact machine design
- Easy installation and service with all interfaces always one side

A home field advantage in the digital factory

In manufacturing and production, linking information across all corporate levels increases the demands placed on computing power, functions and availability. With SIMATIC PC-based, you can already prepare your machines and plants for the challenges of the digital factory today.

